MARUANI MERCIER

MARUANI MERCIER is delighted to return to The Armory Show 2026, presenting a selection of paintings and sculptures by artists from our roster. George Rickey's kinetic sculpture belongs to a lifelong investigation of balance, motion, and the choreography of form and movement through three-dimensional space. Georg Karl Pfahler's hard-edge paintings, made in the mid-1960s, reflect his dedication to exploring the relationship between space, colour, and shape, exemplifying the rigorous formal language of postwar European abstraction. Peter Halley's recent, paintings extend his long-standing visual vocabulary of cells and conduits, rendered in synthetic, high-keyed colour. Though their vivid palette might first read as celebratory, the works unmask the isolating and controlling structures beneath contemporary life.

A compelling selection of contemporary figurative works examines domestic space, memory, and interiority. Jaclyn Conley presents oil collages that disrupt linear narrative to explore layered domesticity and socio-political history. Zaam Arif renders solitary figures in quiet, nocturnal settings, employing a muted palette of umbers and ochres to evoke subtle psychological tension, isolation, and the passage of time. Von Wolfe bridges digital and traditional image-making, translating AI-generated compositions into oil on canvas to stage uncanny domestic tableaux charged with symbolic weight.

Expanding into expressive abstraction and materiality, Samuel de Saboia large-scale canvases merge gesture, myth, and vibrant pigments into transformative visual narratives. Æmen Ededéen's complex mixed-media painting layers glass beads and material over an extended creative process to construct shimmering, fragmented portraits that resist easy resolution. Ross Bleckner continues a decades-long exploration of memory, pattern, and the body, treating the canvas as a delicate site of formal inquiry and elegiac reflection.

The presentation is completed by historical portraiture and figuration that contextualize these contemporary dialogues. Francesco Clemente's intimate painted portraits and mirrored white bronze sculpture engage portraiture as a vessel for psychological presence and human. Finally, a unique screenprint by Andy Warhol underscores the booth, referencing foundational postwar mechanics of celebrity, identity, and representation.

Founded in 1995, MARUANI MERCIER represents 26 contemporary artists alongside its programme of museum quality historical exhibitions whilst continuing to build on the legacy of a number of renowned estates. Showing established artists alongside young and emerging new talent, the gallery promotes an artistic dialogue between different generations. It also contributes to new scholarship across its programmes by inviting prominent art historians and curators to collaborate on its exhibition catalogues and artist texts. Many of the gallery's artists participate in international exhibitions and are today placed in some of the most important museums and private collections around the world.

Initially MARUANI MERCIER's primary programme focused on celebrated American artists from the 1980s who, working within the medium of painting and sculpture, sought to reflect the aesthetic and social concerns of their time. Including; Ross Bleckner, Francesco Clemente, Ron Gorchov, Peter Halley, Jonathan Lasker, and Sue Williams.

Over the years, the gallery has looked to a new generation of artists who, working across diverse media, address topical subjects relating to history, politics, the environment, and questions of identity and authorship. Radcliffe Bailey, Esiri Erheriene-Essi, and Victor Ehikhamenor examine themes surrounding Black history and culture, while Lyle Ashton Harris interrogates societal constructs of sexuality and race. Recent additions to the gallery's programme include Jaclyn Conley, Tony Matelli, Kate Gottgens, Æmen Ededéen, Von Wolfe, and Pam Glick. Working across painting, sculpture, and AI-assisted or found-image practices, these artists engage with themes of memory, social experience, and material experimentation. Their work reflects the gallery's interest in practices that bridge contemporary concerns with personal and collective narratives. In 2026, the gallery also became the exclusive European representative of the George Rickey Foundation, strengthening its engagement with the legacy of the artist while supporting the continued exhibition and study of his work across Europe.

In addition to the celebrated exhibitions held there, THE WAREHOUSE has hosted Kwesi Botchway, Cornelius Annor, Johnson Eziefula, and Samuel de Saboia as part of its annual artist residency. In 2026, the gallery expanded with the acquisition of a new art works depot in Brussels, further strengthening its infrastructure and long-term vision while bringing its operations closer to the Brussels gallery. The same year also saw the opening of a gallery space on Rue Saint-Georges.
